Meet the Author

Hi! I'm Chrystal Hambek, the author behind the blog and TPT Store, Super God Not Super Mom. I was an elementary teacher for 8 years before making the decision to stay home with my three young children. I now blog at www.supergodnotsupermom.com about faith, family, and education. If you have any questions or special requests, I would love to help you out! Email me anytime at chrystal@supergodnotsupermom.com.

ALPHABET QUEEN

How to Play:

Print and Cut out game boards and playing cards. Each player gets a board and cards are put in one stack.

Player 1 draws a card. The Alphabet Queen wants to hear the name of all her letters so they must say the letter name they draw! If they don't know, feel free to help out!

Player 2 repeats the same process.

When a player draws a picture card they get to collect it on their board, and play continues with the next player. The player to collect the queen, her crown and her jewels first is the winner!

If a player draws a picture card they already have, they must place that card back in the middle of the deck, and play continues with the next person.

C

A 3x3 grid of letters. Each cell contains a large, bold, black letter. The grid is framed by a thick black border. The background of each cell is white, and the border is decorated with a pattern of colorful polka dots in shades of pink, red, yellow, green, blue, and purple. The letters are arranged in three rows and three columns.
